Meeting the donor

our impression

Bandol is an athletic, hardworking, ambitious, and intelligent young man and we are thrilled to have him in our donor program. Standing at just over 6ft tall, he has a lean athletic build. He maintains his physique with regular surfing. Bandol has a beautiful tan complexion, full pouty lips, and a genuine smile. He has intense almond shape brown eyes and matching sun kissed, thick and straight dark brown hair.

Bandol may have a laid-back surfer vibe about him, but he is anything but laid back. He is very driven and has many avenues he is pursuing. He is currently a student studying Oceanic and Atmospheric Sciences. He intends to see his education all the way through obtaining a PhD. Bandol is also an avid windsurfer and sailor, having won multiple awards. Bandol shares a close relationship with not only his family but also his friends, these relationships have shaped him into the young man he is today and has given him the courage and strength to pursue all his dreams.

Donor essay

Why do you want to be a donor?

I want to be a donor because I am a college student who needs a way to make money. I figured that becoming a sperm donor is a great way to pay for my education while also helping other people along the way.

Describe your relationship with your family. How has your family shaped your values and who you are today?

I have a healthy relationship with my family. We've lived together since I was born and have never had any major conflicts. My family has shaped me into a kind person who values other people's time and skills.

What makes you unique?

I am unique because I am the result of the combination of my family, friends, and nurturing environment. No one else has ever been like me throughout the history of time.

What are you most proud of and why?

I am most proud of making it to college because it has been a struggle to balance my sports with high school. I am happy that the work that I put in paid off.
